

Abstract

In the study of dynamical systems, invariant foliations are very important tools for the problems of normal form, singular perturbation, stable ergodicity, decay of correlation and so on. However, some additional conditions, such as the spectral gap condition and bunching condition, are needed in most of the classical results. In this talk, we are going to discuss some new results and ideas to weaken those additional conditions.