

Abstract

By developing ideas of Albouy-Kaloshin to do an analysis of the singularities, we show that there are finitely many stationary configurations (consisting of equilibria, rigidly translating configurations, relative equilibria and collapse configurations) in the planar four-vortex problem. We also provide upper bounds for these classes of stationary configurations.