

Abstract

In this presentation we aim to give an overview of the areas of research activity in the mathematical sciences in South Africa and also what influenced their emergence. We will also highlight a few significant glaring gaps and strategies to address this.