

Abstract

We first give a review of the classical Dold-Thom theorem in algebraic topology, and a Suslin-Voevodsky's comparison theorem in algebraic cycle homology. We prove a base-point free version of Dold-Thom theorem. Then we show how to use it to study the structure of Suslin homology.